DEDICATION

FOR MANY YEARS OF WATCHFUL CARE

WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO

THOSE WE LOVE

OUR PARENTS

Just Once In A While

Just Once in a While
By - Roy Farrell Greene

Just once in a while if we'd think to convey
To those who walk with us life's devious way,
In glances or words, half the joys that abide
In our hearts because loved ones are close by our side;

If we'd think but to garb in words' tenderest dress
A phrase that were sweet as a mother's caress,
Care's road would be shortened by many a mile;
If we'd think to be thankful just once in a while.

Just once in a while if we'd lay down our load
Of worry and work by the side of the road,
And a bit of the love that we're feeling expend
On sister or brother, or parent or friend,
In words that would tell them their nearness makes light

The path which alone we would grope through the night;
How oft we'd be blessed with an answering smile,
If we'd think to be thoughtful just once in a while.

Tomorrow And Us

Would you like to know what the future will bring, or would you rather let the events of each day be a surprise to you? To very few people is given the power to look into the crystal ball of tomorrow and predict the destination of a friend. On the other hand, I do not always claim to be right in my predictions but in the course of the past many have come true.

Let me take you now from the world of today and out into the darkness of that world which is beyond--the world of tomorrow and years to come. The Senior Class of 1960, of Windsor High School has always been known for wanting to do something new and different. Their (I should say our, because I am one of them) future will prove to be just that, something new and different.

Yes, come with me now and look into the crystal ball. I can see something in quite a new form. It looks something like an airplane getting ready for take-off. It's not a plane. Could it be, yes it is, a rocket ship? There are all of my old class mates getting on and waiting for the take-off. Let's move a little closer and have a look inside. Why, I do know these people, but they have aged so much. But let's remember this is the future. There's William Earl Wilkins, our senior class president, and Janie Holland, Joe Blythe, Carolyn Rawls, Nancy Hall, and goodness gracious there I am sitting there ready for this thing to take-off.

I think we shall just be quiet for a minute and listen. Maybe we will get some clue as to the nature of this affair. Oh! we're taking off.

"Hold on please taking off for Mars," called James Robert Cobb, who because of his ability to drive fast was given the job of piloting this monstrous thing. It took off with such a tremendous force that a loud exclamation of surprise came from the back of the ship. Could it be, yes of course, it's that little Kay Johnson. But she was always so quiet in school. In fact she was voted the "Quietest in the room." Well, people certainly change. . .Doesn't that beautiful coat of red and purple plaid catch your eye? You know, I do believe that's Charles Phillips. He always did dress nicely, and I had heard that he would probably go in the clothing business. Let's ask him and see.

"Oh Charles, I beg your pardon, but that is quite an exclusive coat you're wearing. Do you mind telling us about your clothing business?"

"What, oh did I hear a voice?"

"Isn't that terrible? I forgot he can't see me. He can only hear my voice. I really don't want him to think he's going crazy so I'll just talk to you very softly."

Let's move back just a little. Well, Mable Umphlette, she's sitting there in the very same desk she had in the senior room. I'll say one thing for Mable, she certainly was faithful to that old desk. You hardly ever saw her out of it. . .Listen to Pete Beale giving advice. I always knew he would turn out to be a lawyer. He could always think of something to say and try to win an argument. But who is he talking to? You guessed it, Kenneth Marshall. From what I can gather from the conversation, I think Kenneth has been in some kind of trouble while playing chess. Yes, he accidentally turned over the chess board and broke Roger White's guitar. Roger is suing Kenneth and Pete is Kenneth's lawyer. . .See that boy with his head stuck behind that book. That's Joe Blythe. I believe he's recently become physics professor at the University of Virginia. He must be reading up on the latest things. . .Those girls dressed in white are all nurses. I might add that they are fine looking ones too. There are Judy White, Kathleen Umphlette, Becky Gray, and the one lying down is Kay Johnson, who fainted at the beginning of the trip. There's a doctor standing over her. Just a minute and when he raises his head I'll tell you who it is. Yes, it's Kerry Butler. It seems that Kerry has discovered some new drug to gain weight fast. Johnny Bradshaw read the directions wrong and took too much. Now Johnny weighs 300 pounds! There is a group of boys discussing the latest developments in farm machinery and crops to be used on Mars. There are William Duck, Al Johnson, and Carlton Outland. David Bowden is telling of a new seed he has developed for Hybrid corn. . .My, did you notice Tena Arrington's hair? She's a beautician now. She really does a nice job. . .Frances Carr is reading something. Let's move up a little closer and see what it is. It's a play by Nancy Hall. Nancy's talent for writing has made her famous in the literary world. Frances has become quite an actress, I hear. It seems that her roles in the Junior and Senior plays were the stepping stones to a successful career. . .There is Bert Nurney with a pile of books. I just heard him tell Jo Anne Pierce that he was still trying to study to make up the work he missed during the Senior year. Jo Anne was so busy reading her history book, I really don't think she heard him. She's teaching history now in a city school along with Martha Lee Godwin. . . Let me sit down here by Carolyn Rawls. She's so busy with those test tubes from her lab, that I don't think she'll know I'm even here. I want to look over William Earl Wilkins' shoulder and read that newspaper. I see that Tommy Buxton performed quite a few wedding ceremonies this week. Judy Babb, Janie Holland, Jane Parker, and Kathryn Rhodes made beautiful brides I'm sure. I gather that they're going to Mars on their honeymoon. . . Come on William Earl, turn the page. Well, I see that Billy Duck was the dancing sensation at the Latin Quarter last week-end. And William Earl has a sports column. I'm really glad. That's just what he always wanted to do and he's so interested in sports. . . What! there's my name. Mary Lou Turner and Mary Gene Atkins were featured at Radio City Music Hall during the concert week. They played an organ and piano duet. . . Rita Daughtrey has recently come into quite a large sum of money and Miss Carolyn Griffin, the exclusive interior decorator is redoing Rita's home. . . Joanne Rose, the famous psychiatrist is carrying a portable couch around with her everywhere she goes. She always thinks someone might need psychiatric aid. . . And Linda Daughtrey has made fabulous amounts of money as a court stenographer. Business was always her line.

Friends, are you still with me? Now that we're in this crystal ball of the future, we might as well continue. What will be waiting for us on Mars, will we meet our fate here? Yes, let us gaze once more into the future--come with me.

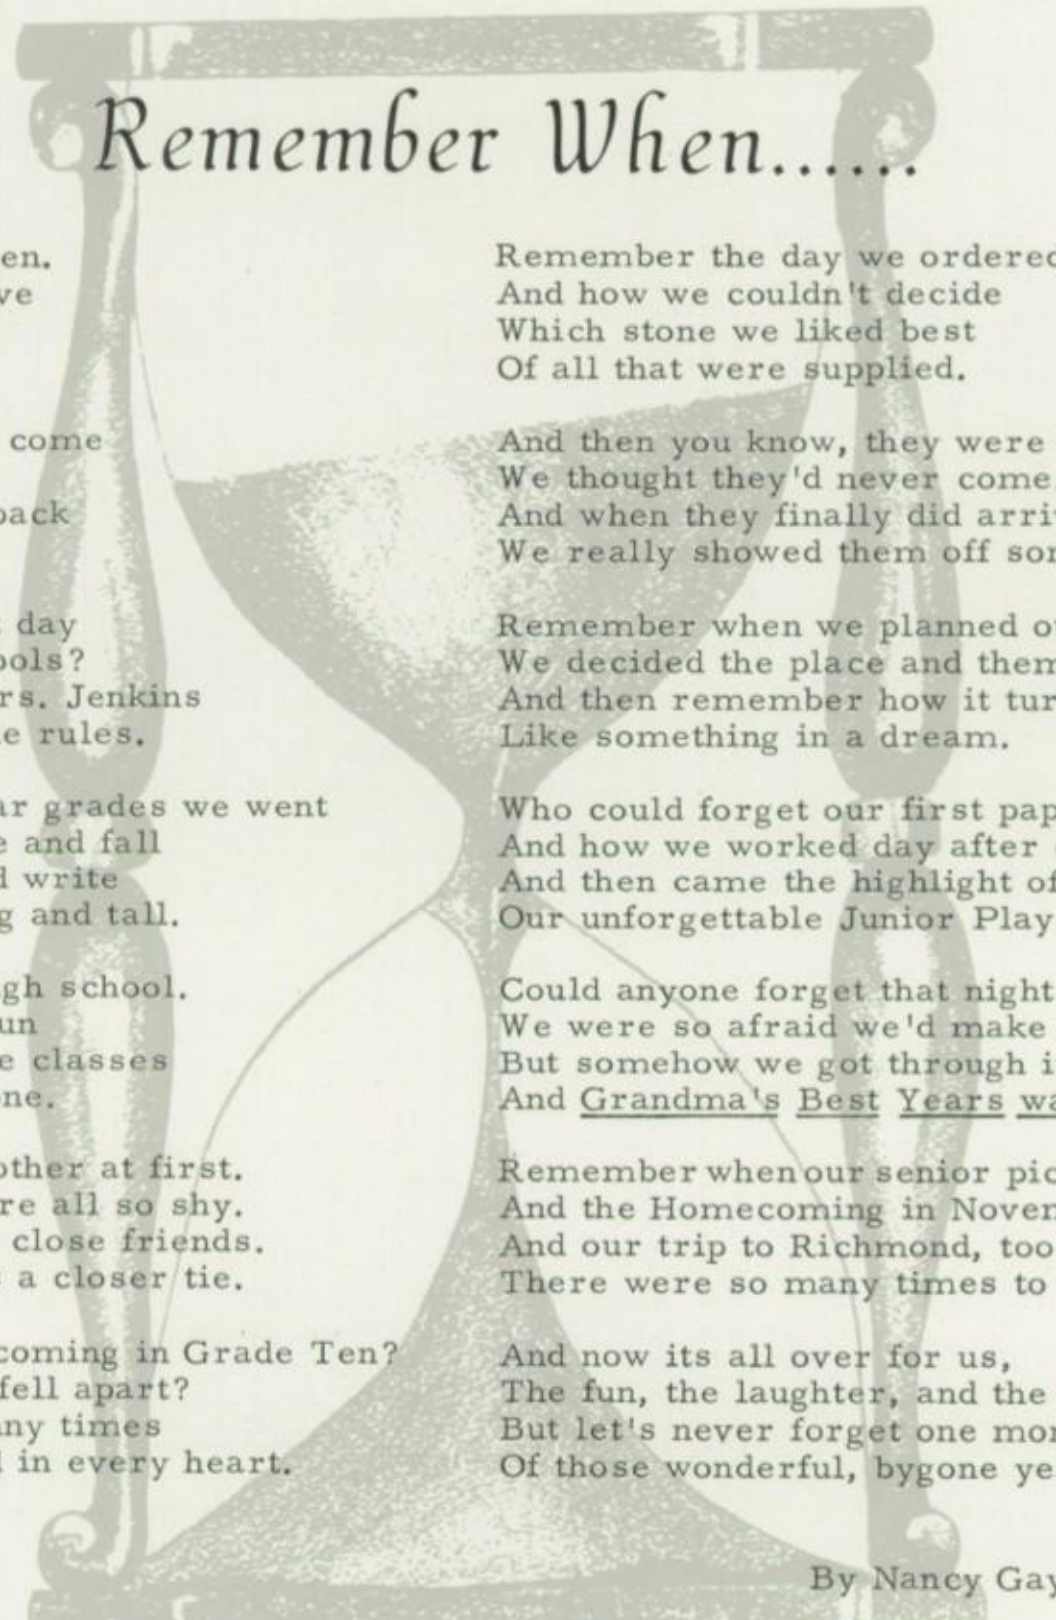

Do you see what I see? The time must be months later. There is a small village. Why, these people have started a new life on Mars. They have built a whole city with their talents. Each one of them was so different that there was so much to contribute to a new civilization. Let's walk down the street and view this new metropolis.

I see a beautiful white building. I do believe it's a hospital. Be very quiet while entering. They can't see us, but we don't want to disturb them by our footsteps. There are Judy White, Kathleen Umphlette, Becky Gray, and Kay Johnson preparing for surgery. There is Dr. Kerry Butler standing next to the operating table. It is wonderful that they have this great talent to help people. As we passed by the lab. on our way out, I saw Carolyn Rawls hard at work. Did you see her?

I think I'll just pick up one of those newspapers at the foot of the steps and read of the current events. From these headlines I see that there is to be a talent show at the school tonight. It is being put on by the faculty; Joe Blythe, Martha Lee Godwin, and Jo Anne Pierce. Roger White will play and sing. Mary Lou Turner and Mary Gene Atkins will play their famous duet. Joanne Rose will read her popular monologue of "The Waltz." The program will conclude with a short play by Nancy Hall. Frances Carr will be the star. Costumes are by Kathryn Rhodes and Charles Phillips. Choreography by Billy Duck. Scenery by Carolyn Griffin. Another news item is that Beale won his case concerning Kenneth Marshall. I imagine that Linda Daughtrey, as court stenographer, had a big job. William Earl's sports column looks interesting. He says that Al Johnson is trying to start a new football team here on Mars. In their spare time some of the boys have a good time playing. Here is an ad from Johnny Bradshaw's Garage. He says that he can overhaul anything including Carlton Outland's custom built racer, which Carlton built especially for travel on Mars. Gracious that noise! Did you just see something fly past us very fast? I guess it was just Bert and James Robert racing. My goodness, we had better step off this street. I really don't think it's safe. Oh! just a minute. See that sign, "Tena's Beauty Salon"? It looks as though she has some good assistants. There is Judy Babb, Rita Daughtrey, Janie Holland, Jane Parker, and Mable Umphlette. There's just one more person I have to see before we leave. I know you must be tired by now. But please follow me a while longer. I want to go to the church and see Tommy Buxton. He should be preparing his sermon for Sunday. Here we are and the door has been left open. We'll just take a look inside. Yes, there he is hard at work. I know he will do much good for these people here.

Thank you so much for bearing with me for so long. I think this is enough for one day. Come, let's go back, back into our world of today, back to the present. What you have seen and heard this day you must keep a secret. For the future is not to be found out yet. You must keep very quiet and not utter a word of the world beyond and tomorrow.

By: Mary Lou Turner

Remember When.....

Twelve years it's been,
Can you really believe
That here we are
All ready to leave?

Though the time has come
To say good-by
Let's take one look back
And fondly sigh.

Remember that first day
At two separate schools?
Miss Blanche and Mrs. Jenkins
Began teaching us the rules.

Through the grammar grades we went
With many a stumble and fall
Learning to read and write
While growing strong and tall.

Then at last came high school.
And then began the fun
For our two separate classes
Joined and became one.

We didn't like each other at first.
Remember? We were all so shy.
But soon we became close friends.
And there never was a closer tie.

Do you recall Homecoming in Grade Ten?
And our float which fell apart?
And all the other funny times
Which are treasured in every heart.

Remember the day we ordered class rings
And how we couldn't decide
Which stone we liked best
Of all that were supplied.

And then you know, they were late
We thought they'd never come.
And when they finally did arrive
We really showed them off some!

Remember when we planned our prom?
We decided the place and theme.
And then remember how it turned out?
Like something in a dream.

Who could forget our first paper?
And how we worked day after day?
And then came the highlight of the year,
Our unforgettable Junior Play.

Could anyone forget that night?
We were so afraid we'd make a mess.
But somehow we got through it.
And Grandma's Best Years was a success.

Remember when our senior pictures were taken?
And the Homecoming in November?
And our trip to Richmond, too.
There were so many times to remember.

And now it's all over for us,
The fun, the laughter, and the tears.
But let's never forget one moment
Of those wonderful, bygone years.

Last Will And Testament

We, the class of 1960, after successfully completing four years of drudgery, do claim to be of sound minds and bodies, and after deciding unanimously that four years is long enough to torture the faculty, and being about to leave here, do hereby make and publish our last will and testament.

Bert Nurney leaves his black book of Suffolk telephone numbers to Fuzzy Jones.

Roger White leaves his ability to play the guitar to Frank Carr.

Mable Umphlett wills to Robert Goode Joyner her desk in the senior class in the hopes he will put it to as good a use as she did.

Kay Johnson leaves her height to Joyce Ann Britt and Barbara Tomlin in hopes that they will grow no taller; to Jimmy Babb she wills her quiet ways.

Rita Daughtry leaves her third period study hall to Maurice Rhodes, and David Blythe she wills her English grades.

Johnny Bradshaw wills his slim physique to Linwood Duck and hopes he will keep it that way.

Kerry Butler leaves his ability to win at poker to Steve Doles and Bobby Young.

Judy White leaves to Kay Parrish, Marie Sexton and Kay Munford her ability to keep classes in general disorder; to Mary Beth Chapman, Nannie Brock and Mary Anne Howard she wills her technique for burning chewing gum.

Joe Blythe bequeaths a bunch of nothing to Tony Barrett because that's all he wants to give him.

Judy Babb wills her quiet disposition to Judy Spivey.

William Henry Duck leaves to Van Hand his ability to be tardy.

Kathryn Rhodes bequeaths her thoughts of only one boy to Nancy Stephens in the sincere hope that she can subtract hers to that number; to Patsy Rainey she leaves a streak of blonde hair to save those peroxide bills.

Martha Lee Godwin wills her good grades in Home Economics to Pat Garrison.

James Robert Cobb bequeaths to Jack Gibbs his mischievous way and hopes he will find how much fun it can be.

Tena Arrington leaves to Diane Keifer and Katie Kee Kello her nick name "gum bunny" and hopes they have as much fun with it as she did.

Mary Lou Turner leaves to Larry Francis and Nancy Carr the basketball scorebook in hopes that Larry can help Nancy, as much as he did her, when the points start coming in fast.

Al Johnson leaves his ability to shoot pool to James Bland and hopes someday James will win a game.

Jo Ann Pierce leaves all her old ticket stubs from football and basketball games to Carolyn Wilkins in the hopes that she can make a living selling them.

Janie Holland leaves to Shirley Godwin and Cecil Rhodes the uncompleted work which was started in the Senior Class and was never completed because of lack of time.

William Earl Wilkins bequeaths his love and knowledge of sports, and his ability to get along with people to Larry Whitley and Carroll Ray Turner.

Joanne Rose leaves Nancy Eley a handful of Nags Head sand to keep in her bathing suit so it will feel at home all year round.

Nancy Gay Hall leaves Ray Thomas, Macon Edwards and Emuel Ballard the chemical formula H_2O and since they probably don't know what it is, hopes they don't drown in it.

Carolyn Rawles and Kathleen Umphlette leave their nick name "Frog" to the Junior Class in hopes that they can find someone froggy enough to inherit it.

Frances Carr bequeaths her sewing ability to Geraldine Ballard in hopes that someday she will develop it.

Becky Gray leaves her chemistry grades to Joe Griffin so he will be allowed to date more than once a week.

Carlton Outland leaves Freddie Steele Griffin the Smithfield girls with hopes that he gets farther than he did.

Mary Gene Atkins leaves her desk to Billy Wolfe, Mary Jane Cutchins and Emogene Garris, provided that they put Billy in the middle. It'll be a tight squeeze, but enjoy it, kids!

Jane Parker bequeaths her equation for settling boy trouble to Barbara Jean Pierce and Evelyn Uzzell in the hopes that by this time next year they will have discovered its value.

Linda Daughtrey leaves her interest in football and basketball games to Velna Glover in hopes that she will enjoy them someday as much as Linda did.

Billy Duck wills all his knowledge of girls and dogs to Leland Duck, and hopes someday he will forget the dogs and remember there are girls to be hunted as well.

Carolyn Griffin bequeaths her old worn paint brushes to Ida Edwards in hopes they will come in handy painting the school calendar; to David Whitley she leaves her Senior Superlative "Most Dignified" in hopes it will be of use in the future.

Charles Phillips leaves to Mack Umphlette and Diane Foster long hours to spend with one another like he spent somewhere with G. H.

Kenneth Marshall bequeaths his old physics book to Jimmy Woodward if he can find it; to Rob Johnson and Herbert Boothe he leaves a book for counting calories while they are eating in the lunchroom.

David Bowden wills his dynatone to Bobby Duck and Richard Byrum and hopes they will never get a ticket.

Pete Beale leaves to keep from paying tuition.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names and affixed our seal this the 6th day of June A. D. 1960.

SPORTS

David Whitley-Manager, John B. Wade-Coach, Fred Underwood-Manager.

The Dukes posted a 2-7 won-lost record for the 1959-60 season. The record does not show the great effort and sportsmanship showed by a fine group of boys. The boys were mostly inexperienced, which contributed greatly to the inconsistency of the team. A few injuries here and there to key players also helped out. All in all the season was not completely at a loss. We think that everyone should take their hats off to this fine group of boys and their fine coach Mr. Wade.
